Hey, Ana, I just watched the movie you recommended. It is a sad movie. But it could be real. I watched a BBC documentary called Planet Earth not long ago. They filmed how the ants were killed by fungi. They said each type of fungi kills a particular species. It's like each type of fungi are engineered to wipe out a specific species. Maybe there is a type that targets human beings. But who knows when they will come out. It's God's decision! So we will just live our everyday life to the fullest!

The water in the lake is very cold! There are some people who can swim there. They can enjoy the cold water. For me, I'd rather jump into a hot tub and let the steam massage my face. I've also swum in the ocean. The water is warmer. I liked it! We'll swim in the ocean in the future!

The people in my photo are the friends from work. We sometimes hang out on weekends as well. I have friends from work and from university. I don't really separate friends from work and private life. We just hang out and have fun. I'll introduce them to you! Did I tell you that I am the king of karaoke?? I can sing straight all night long non-stop. But the next day I will have to drink honey syrup. Otherwise my voice will sound like the wind in the desert. I don't have any songs that I like most, once I hear the song and I like it, I'll sing it! I even sing Japanese songs although I don't know any Japanese! >_@

I like reading, too. But to tell you the truth, I am not a big fan of novels. I read economic books and biographies of successful people. If I can choose between novels and movies, I will choose a movie. Does Paulo Coelho have any novel that had been filmed? What's the name of the movie if there is. I will definitely watch it!

What are you doing lately? How are you enjoying your vacation? Are you going to Baturin soon? If you have time, may I recommend a movie called Con Air by Nicholas Cage? It's a very funny movie!

What are the names of some of your favorite songs? Let me know!

Calvin

P.S. kiss you back + xoxoxo (do you know what that means?? ;)
